	the line
	"I don't need my hair cut!"
	"I don't need it!"
	"I don't need it!"
	over and over and also says things like "I'll kill him" about his son who will be coming to cut his hair.
	Dodge seems to be maybe depressed or at least has a very bleak outlook on life which Halse constantly tries to fix/cheer him up. He calls himself "the corpse" and "the invisible man" which suggests that he believes that he might as well be dead, or not here.
	We see Halse try to fix this/make him feel better aware of what he is saying.
	D "I don't enjoy anything!"
	H "That's a terrible thing today [...]"
	That's the kind of statement
