

Candidate 2 evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
1.	It is important because it helps the care workers to fully understand how individuals may think, feel or act. Having the understanding how humans develop into who they are today and how people can change during developing is important for a care worker as the clients they are working with may have difficulty with mobility which can possibly change over time so it is necessary to be able to adapt to change when working in care. It gives them more understanding of the clients understanding different behaviours the client may have and how it may contribute to their day-to-day life is crucial as it helps to identify the struggles they may be going through and then then being able to respond to these different behaviours properly will make it safer for the care worker and the individual.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
2.	(a) nature <sup>nature</sup> as her mother died of breast cancer 10 years ago which has lead her to become unmotivated as she has missed hospital appointments. This can influence Andrea's development and behaviour as she is refusing to get the help she needs and is refusing to talk about her cancer with her partner where she has become as <sup>is</sup> ashamed of her cancer. This can influence her behaviour as refusing to speak about it and refusing help can effect her mental health and wellbeing. (b) Refusing as she feels the need to not speak about her cancer she could feel ashamed to face the problem can cause Andrea to not transition or get better.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
4.	our family is a huge part of social influences as it is the people we are familiar, comfortable and grow up with. They shape who we are today influencing our development and behaviours. Growing up we look up to our parents wherever they are good or bad we tend to copy or mimic their behaviours. This can influence our choices growing up like looking for employment, what school we go to or who our friends are. The role of family would be to make sure they are a good influence and are good role models. to the individuals they are caring for.
5.	feminism theory is the empowerment of women. the A key feature would be it covers the stigma of how they say men are more powerful than women and how it affects females. it also (

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	Includes discrimination woman may face where ever it is employment or religion. Employment is a huge problem in discrimination as <sup>it shows</sup> woman are payed less than men. It also covers womans mental health and how to support each other the struggles they may have getting a job or starting a career. due too discrimination.
6.	When it comes to work it can be          6. The importance of understanding the social influence of work when supporting individuals experiencing mental health issues is to recognise that work takes up a lot of time and you spend lots of time at work. Repeating understanding work can be tiring or stressful can have an effect on someones mental health. understanding workes social influence and how it may shape people will help to educate the individual with mental

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	health issues and get them the right support they need. Identifying how work may cause mental health issues
7.	Symbolic interactionism
	Helps us to understand how we

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
8.	Supervision is a feature of positive care practice as keeping up with regular checks and examination of the client; keeping care plans updated will help in the process of caring for an individual. Supervision will make sure the client is being cared for correctly and that the client is safe if they are at home or in a care setting. Supervision will help to identify any risks or hazards that may harm the person or if any changes within the clients routine are needed and if they may need more support.
9.	(a) Assessment - this is where there is a questionnaire for the client giving them the chance to speak for themselves and how they want to be cared for. A needs assessment will be carried out using SPECC or Maslow to identify the needs of the individual. An assessment may

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	also be carried out in the individual's home if there are any home adaptations needed or equipment so that it is a safer environment for them.
	review - This is regular checkups for the client to identify any changes needed to their care plan and how they are getting on with the care they are receiving. This can also include if the individual requires more support. For example with mobility new equipment.
	<sup>Review</sup> (b) Assessment - This contributes to positive care practice as it keeps care workers up to date with any changes and keeps good communication between care workers and the client. It will make it safer for the client and the carer as the care plan is kept updated and

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
10.	correctly
easy to follow. Keeping up with reviews will help to keep everyone safe and comfortable within the work place. This can also help their family to know their family are being cared for	Equality act 2010. It supports the rights and choices of individuals as it covers discrimination, the rights the individual has during getting support from care services it covers the discrimination people may face and makes it legal illegal to discriminate wherever it is age, race, skin colour, religion or gender. It helps to fight against hostility making it safe for individuals in all care settings. It supports the choices an individual has in care settings that they have the right to make their own choices.

