My personal recommendation about spending money on a team building exercise, would be not to go through with it. My ~~first~~ first point on why I personally wouldn't is because of staff relations. I personally do not know if one member of staff likes another employee or they don't like each other and if they don't then it isn't really going to be fun for anybody there.

My second point would be the costs and impact. As the manager asked me to choose 'between a team building weekend or a bonus to every employee'. Personally I would choose the bonus as everyone has things going on in their lives and might be in desperate need on the money instead of going out with your colleagues. Taking into account as well not everyone might have the time to come and will have better things to do.

In my opinion I think a team building weekend could have some positive. I have a few points such as it may bring the whole crew together as a bigger and better team. Taking into consideration the team was all together happy the company would run alot smoother then people fighting over nothing. This is a positive as it can increase productivity while everyone is still enjoying themselves.

In conclusion my opinion still ~~is~~ lies ^{the} ~~the~~ same, or no. As there is just to many factors to take into account such as the ones ~~was~~ mentioned in the report and ~~other~~ alot more.
