8.	Goldthorpe believed that there was still Social closure, however he did find and increase in Social mobility within Society. When the recession happened, more jobs at the top became available, this showed that there was Social mobility. However, these jobs at the top were mostly filled by the upper and middle class.
	Another finding was that for every ~~4 people~~ 4 upper or middle class, person to get a job at the top only 1 working class person then made it to the top, this shows that Social mobility is possible but theres still a lack of working class people making it to the top.

9.	A Strength of this study was that it was carried out over a long period of time, this being 43 years, this is a Strength compared to other Studies, example Goldthorpe oxford mobility Study which was only a year long Study, A Study carried out this long gathers rich and detailed data that can be applied to the Role of Society.
	Another Strength is that even though they said that Social mobility was less likely and there was Social closure, more people from the working class begin to work in the higher paying Jobs.

10	A Social Issue I Studied was how neurodivergent learners do not recieve the correct Support within the education System and this leads to disadvantages in the future. 40% of Sen learners Said they did not feel supported in education, compared to only 14% of non-sen learners, this shows that they do not receive the righ Support that will help them thrive in the future. Official Statistics, a Strength of using this for my Study was that it gave me large amounts of the data I needed to compare each Issue. A weakness of using official Statistics is that a lot of children are still waiting on a diagnosis, or have been misdiagnosed this then leads to an inaccuracy of results.

10	Functionalists would say that everyone should be taught the same and that people who can't learn the same way as everyone else do not have the correct norms as others within society. However, Marxists would deny this as not everyone is taught the same, as the middle class in society have access to better education such as, tutors and private school, whereas people from less affluent backgrounds do not have these same advantages and sources available to them.

7.	Culture is a Shared way of life in: Society, This is the norms and values that Societies have always shared. Sub-cultres are a Shared way of life that is made within a ~~Societies~~ Culture in Society.
	Purrey primary Socialisation, family and close friends teach you about the Cultures in Society, it is a Shared way of life that they teach you in early childhood. This then Shows you what is expected from you in Society and what the norms and values of Society are. Functionalists would argue that this is a must in Society, that we Should all learn and act the Same within Society, functionalists have a Strong value consensus. Wheras the labelling theory would say that if Someone did not agree with this Shared way of life they ~~Would~~ would be labelled as deviant in Society because they do not conform to the values and norms of the wider Culture.

7.	An example of this would be the folk devils and moral panic Study, this was a Study based on how Society labels people Such as youths as deviant, due to the way they dress, talk, act and things Such as hobbies. The media overdramatised the "riots and/or Situation and labelled people as "devils" and "deviant" Means this was not the case. out of 90 people arrested only 10 people actually got convicted of a crime. When Interviewed people Said they only joined in as they were already labelled as being deviant and causing riots, this then leads to the Self-fulfilling prophecy, This is when after So long being labbeled as deviant, people then just became deviant, as people already think it they then act that way, This can then also lead to a master Status, this is when people do just become deviant, not ~~because they~~ just actong a certain way because people Said so but fully indulging in this role.

7	This Study shows that Sub-cultures in Society are seen as deviant and weird because they do not conform to Societies Standards and what Society believes to be correct. Functionalists would say that the folk devils should be conforming to the value consensus, and that they are deviant because they do not. Whereas labelling theory and Weber believe that these individuals have the right and free will to make their own choices in Society.
