

Candidate 7 evidence

TITLE: Move to a four-day working week

INTRODUCTION: The aim of this report is to ~~analyse~~ view and analyse ways the company could possibly move staff to a four-day working week. In this report we will highlight the possible ways and ~~the~~ ~~act~~ and outcomes the company might face with the possible plan.

PRODUCTIVITY: Moving into a four-day ~~week~~ working week, will lead to high levels of productivity from the ~~employees~~ ^{staff}. This is because the employees ~~too~~ will get as much work done so that they get to take a break during the long weekend without thinking about the job while at home.

However, a longer weekend would lead the staff to be more sluggish/lazy at work, as they will be too laid out ~~when~~ at work when back from the weekend, decreasing the productivity.

STAFF MORALE:

In terms of staff morale, employees will be more likely to come to work energized and joyful; as they get to spend more time with the people that bring them joy/happiness, such as the family/children. As a result, it would help the company to make more profit while being able to see their loved ones.

However, having to work four times a week while having a long weekend can be detrimental at times. This means that instead of working at their full potential, employees might rush the work they are doing just to be able to meet their family. In consequence, leading to a poor work being handed to clients and less growth for the company overall.

COMPANY IMAGE / REPUTATION :

When it comes to the company's image, moving to a four-day working week can ~~be~~ give an impression of lack work-ethic to customers/clients, which could lead them leaving and not buying/being served from the company anymore, due to the impression given.

CONCLUSION: In conclusion, although introducing a four-day ~~work~~ working week can help the company to create highly motivated staff at work. However, I do believe introducing the plan could hinder the company progress as a result leading the company to failure.

I would suggest/recommend the company to look into their finances if they are able to afford it and to see what type of employees they ~~are~~ have.