RESTUARANT REVIEW

Recently I visited a restaurant called „La Cantina“, that is located in the city centre. It^{is} a popular place, that especially tourists go to. ~~Since~~ Given that the restaurant has a very good reputation and a five star rating, I decided to try their ~~most~~ specialties.

The interior design of „La Cantina“ is very estetically pleasing. The colour ~~to~~ scheme of blue and white, ~~with~~ in combination with wooden furniture and natural lighting, creates a comfortable space well-adjusted for ~~at~~ a quiet meal. The atmosphere seemed to be nice and welcoming. ~~The menu~~

The menu ~~was~~ ^{has} not had a big selection of choices. ~~Dish descriptions~~ From dish descriptions it was obvious that they were really plain and simple. Additionally, there were not ~~any~~ ^{any} meals for people who have any kind of allergies, like milk or gluten. Also there were not any vegan options and for vegetarians only a ~~plain~~ ^{plain} salad is suitable.

After I ordered a chicken salad with lemonade, I waited quite a long time. ~~When I saw thought that my order is coming, it turned out to be only my lemonade.~~ The staff was not very helpful, when asked about a dish they take their time while checking on it and the only feedback you can get is that the food is in making. I started to be really hungry and almost left, when my food arrived ~~at~~ to my table. It was tasty and surprisingly warm, however it was not worth such a long wait.

Given the tasty food, I still would not come back to „La Cantina“. This place is average, menu is poor and the staff ^{are} ~~is~~ lazy. There are many better ~~q~~ restaurants, that deserve more attention, ~~because of their flexible menu and good service.~~
