

Candidate 1 evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	When Antony returned to Italy, everybody was believing Athens to be in great danger because of Cicero and Brutus' close friendship his close friendship with Cicero and Brutus. And so the Athenians were disappointed public life at the arrival of Antony, fearing arrest. And so, giving word, Athens disappeared at the arrival of Antony and was hiding at the house of Volturnius, to whom he had asked for help, he would arrive and ask for help, and to have with him Canis Canis with him, a friend of the same age and of similar nature to him.
	However Antony, although he hated Cicero so much that he wanted to arrest not only Cicero himself but even everybody who had been his friends, however he was mindful of had been mindful of Athens' sense of honour. When Antony asked where Athens was, he the wrote with his hand that he did not see to not see and to come at once to him. he said that he would remove him (Athens) from the arrest list and do this for the sake of Canis.
	In addition Antony also sent the protection for Athens in case any danger occurred, because it could happen.

Candidate 2 evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	When Antony returned to Italy, all believed that Atticus was in great danger because of his close friendships with Cicero and Brutus. And And so at the arrival of Antony Atticus disappeared from public life, fearing being arrested, he hid at the house of Volturnus, to whom he had brought help to a short while before. He had a cousin with him, a friend of the same age and similar in nature to himself.
	Antony However Antony, although he hated Cicero so much that he wanted that not only Cicero be arrested but even everybody that was his friends even all of his friends, however he was only mind full of Atticus being being having a sense of humor. When Antony asked where Atticus was, he wrote in his own handwriting so that not to frighten him to come at once to

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN

him; he said to himself to remove ~~him~~ him from the criminal list for the sake of him and Canum.

In addition Antony sent protection to Accitius in case any danger
occured, because it was happening
at night. In this way Accitius was in the greatest danger not only from himself but even his dear friend, or those protecting.