

Question paper 1: Section 2 – Morality and Belief

Candidate 6 – Morality and justice (Question 13)

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
13)
Part A, Section 2, Morality and Justice. The most common form of custodial sentencing in the UK is prison.
Prison is when criminals are locked up and separated from society for a chosen period of time depending on the length of their sentence.	K
They are in jail with other criminals and are only provided with the basic necessities which enables them to survive.	K
By implication men in prison criminals are unable to be of danger to society and the outside world. Consequently this makes society a safer place, however being in prison can make criminals angry which makes them likely to	K

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN

her offend in the future making society not safer.

A religious response with regards to criminal sentencing comes from Christians.
 They would argue that it
 is wrong to just lock them up as Jesus worked with the outcasts of society. Christians would believe that everyone should be allowed the opportunity to change.

A benefit of this Christian response
 would be that it allows everyone
 a second chance and makes people have faith in and trust the justice system. It means that people are able to change for the better in ways which may also benefit society.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	An issue arising from this Christian viewpoint is that it does doesn't take into consideration the harm in which the criminal may have caused for many, and the fact that the best place for them to be for everyone is prison.
	Being in prison can also cause criminals to learn new ways which they can use when returning which is a huge issue in the justice system - By imprisoning being in prison may benefit the criminal more than anyone else.
	K
	A
	<hr style="width: 100%;"/>
	D

