	all muslims must do. They have to pray five times a day, fast at certain times, say the proclamation of faith, give money to charity and travel to mecca to do a pilgrimage.
16B)	On the one hand I agree as firstly, people wouldn't argue about religion. This is a primary cause for war, so if everyone followed one religion, they wouldn't fight. Secondly, people would be kinder in everyday situations. This is because they know every little counts to get into al-jannah and to be a khalifah. Thirdly, there would be a definitive answer on big, existential questions. If everyone followed the Qu'ran they would believe in god and know he created the universe. Fourthly,
