15a)	Jews mean understand that nobody is born with sin. They also believe we have free will so it is our choice if we sin or not. They also understand that god is forgiving and will forgive sin if you had good motives. They also believe ending your life is ok when you die ^{you might have to watch} your heart with yourself sin in you are which is there version of hell.
b)	One reason this statement is true is that the rules for what is a sin is outdated as it would be too hard to follow in modern day society. Also rules such as you can't be jealous of other is too much harder to follow now with the modern modern world we live in. However as god is all knowing he would have known what our world would be like now, meaning it still should be expected for not to sin. Also if you believe in god enough it wouldn't be hard to avoid sin as he should be your top priority. Overall I believe that as god is omnipresent he knows what is happening in today's society, and as he has the power to change the rules of sin but hasn't that means it is not hard not to sin, as the god should be your top priority.
