

Candidate 1 evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
5.	critical essay
	Shooting Stars by Carol Ann duffy displays a traumatic experiences of the Holocaust and WW2 the powerful message displayed in this poem is the heartbreaking and traumatic experience of the Holocaust. during this period of time, Duffy explores this powerful message through her word ^{choice} choice sentence structure.
	DUFFY uses sentence structure in the ^{form} of Repetition "Remember Remember" she does this to make us help us have the thoughts and memory of everyone who was killed during the Holocaust and WW2 this was a very effective technique to help us understand the horrors of the Holocaust
	Duffy also uses sentence structure in the form of Alliteration to explore this powerful message. "Rebecca Rachel Ruth" which all are Jewish names to remember from the War and Holocaust. This creates an image a thinking

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	Process on why Jewish people had to go through that traumatizing experience for no reason which leads on to the powerful message in the poem.	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	Duffy can also be found using juxtaposition word choice in the poem in the lines "between the gap of corpses I could see a child" as corpses has connotations of dead body, death, death. and child has connotations of young, free, life this creates a contrast of ideas ideas between life and death and between all the young people who had to go through such traumatic times during the Holocaust and WW2
	Duffy uses word choice choice in the form of simile in lines "upright as statues" just as statues have no movement and are lifeless the Jews are standing still with no motion they are compared to a lifeless motionless figure, with that they are scared of the soldiers.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION	DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN

Card Ann DUFFY's shooting stars displays
a powerful message of the trauma
and heart breaking experiences of the Holocaust and of WW2 ~~the poem~~ ~~was~~ Duffy is seen to use techniques like sentence structure and word choice to display this powerful message with detail my personal opinion on this poem is that it has really impacted me on the heartbreaking reality of what occurred during these ~~so~~ few years and ~~is~~ ~~was~~ the experiences that young people had to go through.