

Candidate A evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
1	• If you don't impress tiny then he he goes back to he sleep on top of the old book.
	• You only get a short amount of time to try and entertain Tiny.
2	• Its very hard to win a cats love
	• cats are more intelligent that what they put across
	• cats want you to rethink things
	• cats put across as if they know everything but refuse to tell
	•

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
3	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• If a cat died and you were to blame you could be killed• most of the time they were covered in expensive jewellery.• they were given meals that would maintain the same put today's cat food to shame.• They were often mummified much like humans
4	"haven't really moved on" links forward to how cats still act and get treated the same as the Egyptian times "time of Pharaoh" links back to how specially they were treated in the Egyptian times

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
5.	The writer uses a list which helps build up an atmosphere and and makes the reader curious as to what is going to happen. The list makes it clear that cats prefer to be left in their comfy spots, as it lists what happens when you try to move them.
6	• "guarding" - means to protect something/someone. In this case it suggests that the cat is very protective and stopping pests from entering.
	• "vermin" - means poisonous or disgusting. In this case it suggests that the cats despite how disgusting the intruders were they always caught them off

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
7.	◦ the writer uses a sarcastic tone when talking about the pests. It is clear that the writer is defending cats because he is making fun of the pests.
	◦ the writer use a short sentence "It's unfair" to give his opinion. It is clear that he is defending cats because he is sticking up for them

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
8	• the cats that were able to catch mice were to be given to the 'Museum of St Petersburg' to defend and guard the jewels within from the room intruders/pests
	• the government suggested that ^{libraries} bookshops should have cats to stop pests/intruders from getting in.
	• bookshops should also have cats to stop intruders from getting in.
	• the Europeans were thought that pests were the cause of the Black Death and cats were able to stop the rats from coming across • cats were easily found and in order to keep them all you had to do was feed them.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
9	"rather go to your local shop than buy online" rather contributes to the passage's effective conclusion because although buying online is much easier to do people enjoy going to the bookshop and libraries to see the cats.

Candidate B evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
1.	'The first thing' the writer does when he enters the his local bookshop is 'look for the shop # cat, tiny' because he is the most noticeable/attractive thing in the place. Also the cat gives you a short amount of time to pet him before peacefully resting on the books again.
2.	One positive thing about cats is that they ensure you earn their trust and affection, they are also a protective species and are in charge, they can predict/sense good & bad things within a place. They always seem one step ahead of things and are secretly smart but quiet about it. In their blood, ^{cats} they are a very distinctive, smart species, well suited to a book shop.
3.	Cats 'held a special place' in the ancient world this is shown as cats were seen as

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	the most important thing and adored by gods where as us humans were below cats and worked in caves. Cats were highly worshiped in egyptian society and if anyone harmed a cat they'd face extreme punishment. They were also treated the best and were feed the best/luxurious food. 'Bastet' the person looked at as the queen. back then could turn herself into a cat, which shows why there was these the "extreme adoration towards the species.
A.	The sentence in lines 28-29 links back to the fact that cats in a book shop are the "photogenic spirit of the place". This shows that cats are still worshipped and appreciated like they always have been.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
5.	The writer uses the sentence structure of a list to make it clear what cats prefer. He expresses the fact cats want to be in the best / comfiest places by making it hard for you to make them move.
6.	The word choice of "protectors guarding" whilst describing cats shows they played an important part in egyptian writing. This shows us that cats were used as security from ^(bad things) rats intruding & ruining _{such as their writing} everything. "Domesticated" is also used to show they played an important part. This shows that Egypt is the first place of where cats became adored & worshipped. The word choice of "successfully weathered" shows that if it wasn't for cats egyptian writing wouldn't have been successfully

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	portrayed.
8	Cats ended up in bookshops after it was discovered that cats were able to kill rats and protect important places with treasured valuables. Rats were seen as the main problem of disease in places and cats were the only way to stop this. The British Gov. got many places (bookshops) over Britain to have cats to prevent rats. There were many cats so we had/have easy access to them. It's stayed tradition that cats belong in bookshops.
9	"cats are a big part of what makes these stories great" explains an effective conclusion as a whole because cats are the history of bookshops & writing & evidently, without that we would not

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	be amongst the writers we have today.
7.	The writer uses the word choice of "four-legged protectors". This shows the writer is defending them by saying they had the role of safety towards books of us. He also uses the cartoon Tom & Jerry in a metaphorical way.

Candidate C evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
1.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Because the cat is good for taking photos of and adds a lot of has a lot of importance.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To try and gain the cats approval in the short time period he is given before it returns to its nap.
2.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Cats take on high power roles as they are aware of their own importance. • They seem It's as though they have a higher intelligence than they're letting you know. • They make you humans think about things and reflect. • Cats keep others in line • They make humans earn their affection

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
3.	• In Ancient Egypt cats were given luxury meals.
	• A deity worshipped by the Ancient Egypt Egyptians had the ability to transform into a cat which makes many people think they worshipped cats.
	• They had an important role and causing the death of one could result in you being killed.
	• Some cats were mummified and their humans would grieve for them in acts that the rest of society could see.
	• They were often dressed in precious materials and gems.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
4.	The line links the ideas in the paragraph before.
	The line links the ideas presented in the earlier paragraph about cats holding "a special place in ancient Egyptian Society" to the next paragraph which explains that cats still believe they hold this position, and hence hold "carry themselves in a stately manner." It effectively links the past to the present in the article.
	"Time of Pharaoh" "Time of Pharaoh" links back to the earlier paragraph where the writer talked about "ancient Egyptian Society." * "haven't really moved on" link forward to the rest of that paragraph where the writer says they "demand you treat them with a certain amount of reverence."

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
5.	The writer uses the rhetorical question
	"And their favourite place in my house?"
	Afterwards, the writer quickly answers the question with a short statement. Since the writer is now expecting an answer back, it is more presented as an obvious statement. The question also tries to make the the reader think by using information they have read earlier in the passage.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
6.	The writer describes the cats as "protectors" which makes has connotations of strong and brave. The word choice makes it seem as though cats played a big role in battling off ^{any} danger - that could come for the writing.
	The word "successfully" makes it seem as though without the cats the Ancient Egypt would not have managed to pass on their knowledge so well. "Successfully" has connotations of great, amazing, well done, and the is and is overall very positive.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
7.	The writer describes mice as "little pests" which "pests" which makes them sound like unwanted, troublesome vermin. In comparison to cats that are just doing what they have been taught.
	The word "unfair" makes it clear that the writer doesn't think the ways cats are portrayed is right and that mice do lots of damage that shouldn't be so easily forgiven.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
8:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The Empress ordered cats to the best <ul style="list-style-type: none">- cats to be sent to Russia in the 1700's to protect ^{in the museum} artefacts from rodents.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• At At the start of the 1800's the Government in the UK promoted the idea of libraries getting cats to protect the books from mice.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Cats are easy to find and you only need to supply them food.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Bookshops owners see cats as a logical way to keep pests out of the shops.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The idea of using cats to protect things has been passed along through through time different times periods. Cats adapted to their role and kept on doing it.

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
9.	The expression "If you asked a cat, he'd say he was the main attraction." adds to the passage's conclusion because it links back to earlier in the passage where the writer talked about cats holding a "special place" in society. It effectively wraps up the information in the passage whilst adding a bit of humour.

Candidate D evidence

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
1)	One reason it is the primary thing he does is that it gives him a chance to amaze the cat and for it to judge him, to be friendly to him or not. Another reason is that it is the soul and heart of the store and seeing it is important for the impression that the store gives.
2	One thing he loves about cats is how you have to earn their friendliness instead of it just being given to you. Another thing is that it acts as a guard that will protect you. Another thing is how it is in control of everything that goes on. Another thing is how how they appear to see into your mind and can sense

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	The type of person you are. Another thing is how they appear to be higher than everything else around them, they have the most respect.
3	One way was that they used to be treated as holy beings before. Another is how if you made a cat die you would be killed yourself as they were so special and respected. They were clothed in precious materials to show how precious they were to society. One of the Egyptian gods could transform into a cat, showing how they were seen to be holy.
4	The use of "the time of Pharaoh"

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	links back to previously when the writer was talking about them in ancient times "Cats held a special place in Egyptian society". By using "haven't really moved on" the writer links it to talking about how they act today: "aring themselves in a stately manner".
5	The use of the short sentence "Among my books." is stated in a matter of fact tone quite blunt which emphasises that it is fact. It is effective as it shows us exactly what they prefer.
6	the word "protectors" shows how important cats were as it shows how they stood guard alert

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	and kept watch over the society.
	Another word is " weathered " which shows how the cat "guarding" which shows how the cats were were all like watchmen that patrolled, stopping any things trying to get in.
7	The use of the short sentence
	at the end "It's unfair" shows how the writer feels that the match between the cat and the mouse is not fairly fought and that the cat has a disadvantage against the mouse. The short sentence emphasises that it is fact as it is blunt. The word "foiled" shows us how the mouse always seems to escape

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	whilst the cat is just trying to defend its home. The writer sees that the cats actions are for the good whilst the mouse is trying to invade the home. The cat has been tricked by the mouse and we give it sympathy as all it has been doing is defending its home.
8	One way is that a Russia the Queen of Russia told a museum to display a guide on what cats to use to protect the old artefacts like books in there. Another way is how Britain used cats that were put in libraries to defend against creatures that hunted for the books. Then people who had book-shops

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	in their possession decided to use them as well to protect their store against creatures. Another reason was that people could not get catch them themselves so they needed cats to do it. They were readily available to the book shops so most of them decided to adopt them in order to defend their stores. Once they were invited in they didn't really ever leave, kind of stayed there.
9	The expression "if you asked a cat" is an effective to lead to the conclusion as the whole piece has brought us into the life of a cat throughout time and how it brings their own opinion

ENTER NUMBER OF QUESTION		DO NOT WRITE IN THIS MARGIN
	into it. It links to the text as a whole. It brings in their own views.	