Q2	c Can influence development of antisocial personality disorder Another cause is poverty, being in poverty impacts life chances and often leads to a life of crime, a child growing up in a family that partake in illegal activities will normalise that criminal behaviour and make it their own, this is evident From the findings of Farrington who said that all participants (all 411 of them) had done at least one crime from the ages of 10-50, this shows that children can become desensitised to crime from an early age and this can inhibit moral reasoning
