d	It was found that we are born with 6 major facial expressions, fear, surprise, happy, sad, angry and jealous this was found due to Ekman and Frieson who went to an isolated tribe in New Guinea where they asked 189 adults and 129 children to identify which emotion went with which facial expression, they also asked 28 adults who had been exposed to western life, they found that all participants identified 4 major emotions with a little confusion between fear and surprise This shows that 6 major emotions are universally understood without learning them
